Chamber Monthly, August 2009

President's Corner

August is a busy and exciting month for Richfield, especially in this Bi-Centennial year. Starting out the month of August is the Kelly Miller Circus on the 1st, followed by the Community Day Parade on the 7th, the Steak Fry on the 8th, and Community Day on the 9th. I look forward to seeing everyone out and about.

The Chamber now has a limited amount of Bi-Centennial shirts available for purchase. If you would like to purchase one, please call Jean at the Chamber office or visit our booth at Community Day.

Also, you may receive a call from an Arlene Wagner, representing Hudson Publishing Company, regarding a new project this month. She is putting a map together of Richfield that will include an advertising opportunity for your business. These maps will be provided for distribution to each participating business, the Chamber, Town Hall, local Realtors, etc. The idea is that every current resident, visitor, and new resident to Richfield will receive one.

Looking forward to September, the Chamber will be hosting a Technology round table during our lunch on September 2nd. This round table will take place of our speaker and will provide you with an opportunity to learn something new and take action by implementing these ideas into your business. Multiple topics will be discussed, and each table will have an expert to lead the way.

We hope the round table will be another great benefit for our members of the Richfield Chamber of Commerce. Previous technology round tables in which I have participated have given my company practical ideas which we implemented and continue to use to this day. I hope this one will provide similar opportunities for your business.

Web Site Business Tips

Wendy Pollarine manages the chamber's web site. She would like to update each month's front page with a business tip submitted by members of the chamber.

For example: Wendy Pollarine at National City Bank wants to share How to Recognize a Phishing Attack. (then list the details.)

You may forward your tips to her email address: wendy.pollarine@nationalcity.com.
